

Transition to and first year of university for students on the autism spectrum.

Are you on the autism spectrum?

Did you commence an undergraduate degree at an Australian university in 2016, 2017, 2018 or 2019?

We are keen to speak with you about your experiences of transition to and first year at university.

The purpose of this research is to help us to better understand the barriers and facilitators to transition to university for students on the autism spectrum in Australia.

Amanda Richdale (La Trobe University).